

Death Star Attack Props

The models in this package include short and tall Turbo Laser Towers, Destroyed Tower markers, and Thermal Exhaust Port. All components have been created in “2D” for fast and easy construction, and so as not to interfere with the movement of star fighters. There are a number of unofficial Death Star style texture sets around. I chose to make these props compatible with Warscape’s excellent Star Base Trench Run, which is what you see in the photos that I posted on Boardgame Geek. However, they will work with just about any similar texture.

If you want to get going fast, simply print and cut out the towers on card stock and, paste the “Turret Detail Patch” onto the turret and you are good to go. But if you want something a bit more fun, you can do what I did. I printed my towers on paper and glued the paper to illustration board (~1/8” thick) to simulate the nice, thick die-cut components of the game, and cut around the guns. I then cut out the small boxes with the “X” on each tower base and turret, and inserted and glued a small, 1/8” x 1/16” magnet into each of the holes. The result is a turret that rotates, and can be replaced with a “Destroyed Tower Marker” if needed. Finally, paste the “Turret Detail Patch” onto the turret to cover your handy-work.

It’s very difficult to match a color exactly, especially the gray of the surface tiles and the props. When you factor in the variation in output between printers as well as papers, and it is more common than not that a gray printed with color inks will shift either blue or red. This can be solved, for the most part, by printing everything in grayscale (with the exception of the Tower Destroyed Markers). That’s what I have done for the photographs that I have posted on Boardgame Geek.

I hope you enjoy making and using your towers. As far as rules are concerned, I leave that to the rest of the X-Wing Miniatures community. There are already some excellent tower card variants available on the Boardgamegeek forum page.

Please visit my homepage, <http://www.toshachminiatures.com/> for more downloadable models, game variants, and game-play aids. Let me know what you think about the Death Star Attack Props. Do you have any suggestions? Any requests? If you do, drop me a note. Thank you.

