Starlance

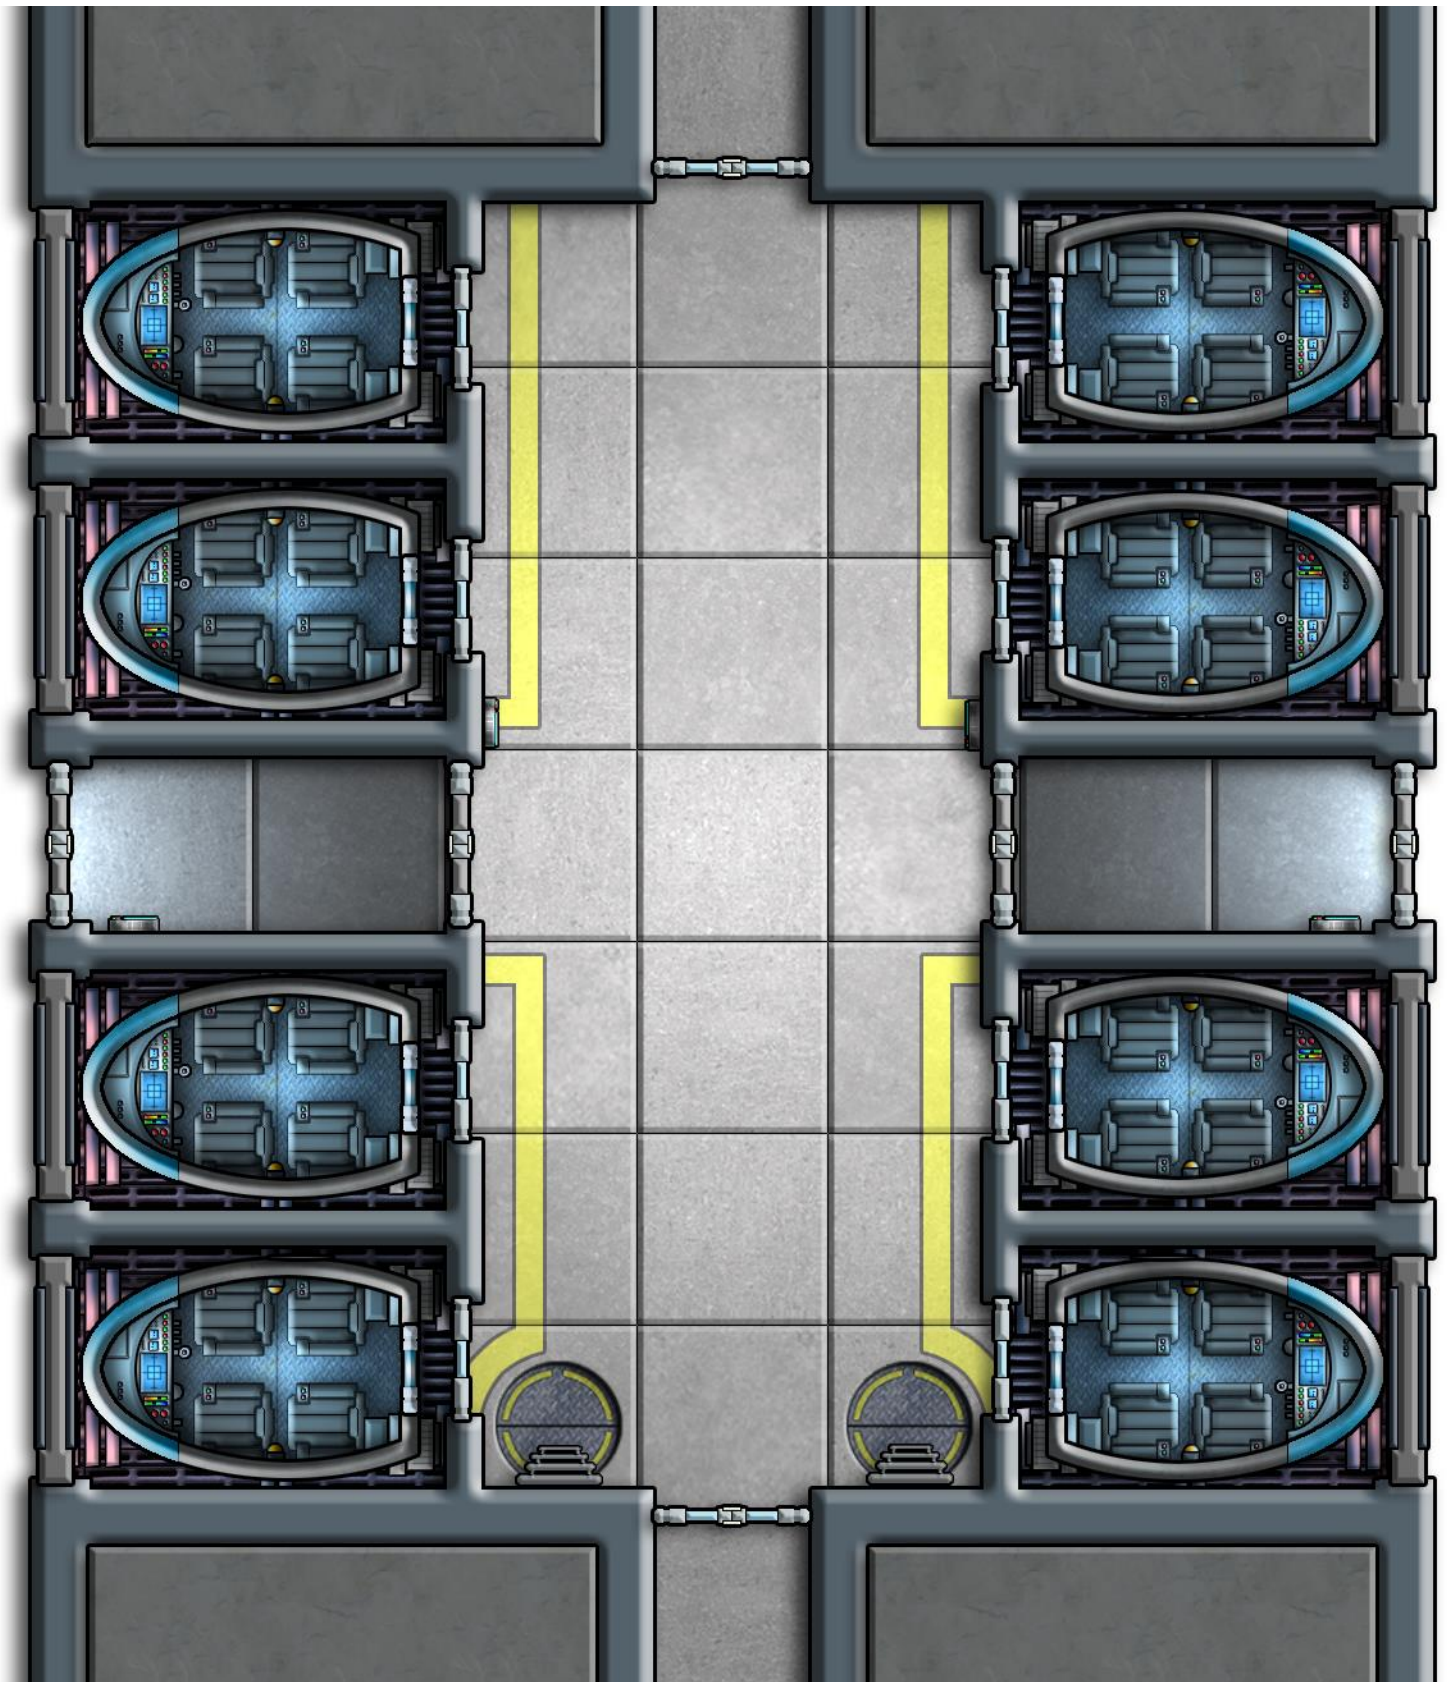

Within this document are pages for the Future Armada starship, Starlance.

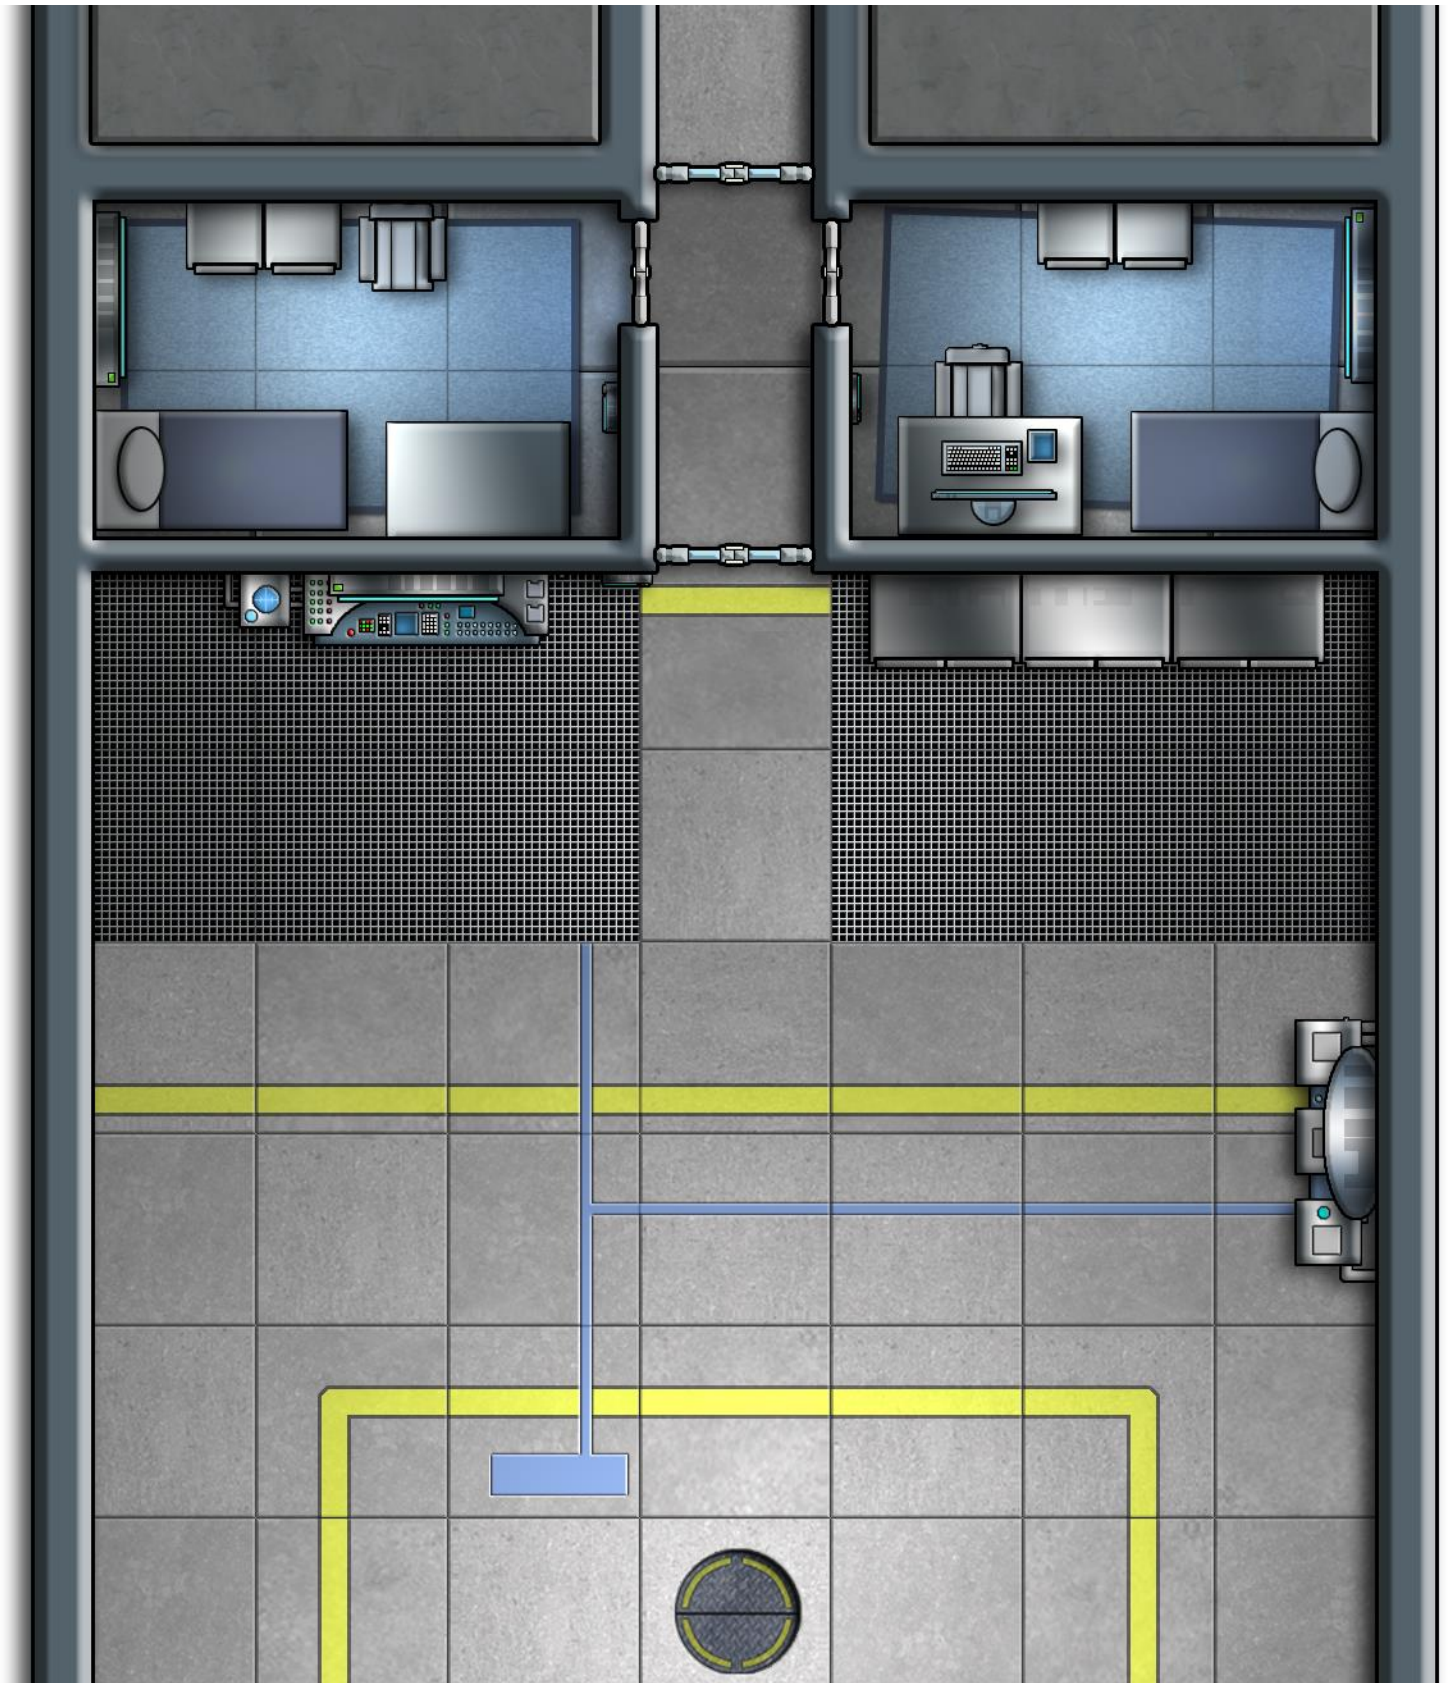

Many of the pages look very similar (being empty hangar or cargo areas) so labeling them after printing may be a good idea. Note that it is also possible to use some of these variant pages but not others. For example the extended nacelles could be used while keeping the original maps for the galley and crew quarters. Conversely, the original Morningstar map could be used with just the upper deck changed (lowering the crew complement in favor of a dorsal hangar, but keeping the short nacelles with missile launch bays intact).
