

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS

LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

EAST1-6 THE FARDROP INCIDENT

EAST12 Enemy of the Deep

You have defeated a powerful agent of an ancient mind flayer cyst, thereby preventing the elder brain from regaining access to the Underchasm. Although this threat has been blocked for the moment, mind flayers are patient and cunning.

This story award represents two things. First, it represents any small trophy (such as a severed tentacle) that you might choose to take from the dead mind flayer's corpse. In future adventures, your DM might allow you to use this grisly artifact for some roleplaying purpose.

Second, this certificate also represents the enmity you have earned from the elder brain. In future adventures, if you find yourself fighting mind flayers, please inform the DM that you deserve special attention from the monsters. They may receive a telepathic signal from the elder brain warning them about your past transgressions against the cyst. The DM may choose whether and how to act on this information.

EAST13 Hero of Fardrop

You assisted an expedition from the Crafty Kobold Salvage Company in completing their mission to secure the abandoned Underchasm outpost of Fardrop. Although some lives were lost, the damage was greatly reduced thanks to your actions. Your prestige with the Company and the city of Eartheart has increased as a result of the tales told by the grateful explorers.

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS

LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

EAST1-6 THE FARDROP INCIDENT

EAST12 Enemy of the Deep

You have defeated a powerful agent of an ancient mind flayer cyst, thereby preventing the elder brain from regaining access to the Underchasm. Although this threat has been blocked for the moment, mind flayers are patient and cunning.

This story award represents two things. First, it represents any small trophy (such as a severed tentacle) that you might choose to take from the dead mind flayer's corpse. In future adventures, your DM might allow you to use this grisly artifact for some roleplaying purpose.

Second, this certificate also represents the enmity you have earned from the elder brain. In future adventures, if you find yourself fighting mind flayers, please inform the DM that you deserve special attention from the monsters. They may receive a telepathic signal from the elder brain warning them about your past transgressions against the cyst. The DM may choose whether and how to act on this information.

EAST13 Hero of Fardrop

You assisted an expedition from the Crafty Kobold Salvage Company in completing their mission to secure the abandoned Underchasm outpost of Fardrop. Although some lives were lost, the damage was greatly reduced thanks to your actions. Your prestige with the Company and the city of Eartheart has increased as a result of the tales told by the grateful explorers.

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS

LIVING FORGOTTEN REALMS

(character name)

HAS RECEIVED STORY AWARDS FROM:
(cross out those not received)

EAST1-6 THE FARDROP INCIDENT

EAST12 Enemy of the Deep

You have defeated a powerful agent of an ancient mind flayer cyst, thereby preventing the elder brain from regaining access to the Underchasm. Although this threat has been blocked for the moment, mind flayers are patient and cunning.

This story award represents two things. First, it represents any small trophy (such as a severed tentacle) that you might choose to take from the dead mind flayer's corpse. In future adventures, your DM might allow you to use this grisly artifact for some roleplaying purpose.

Second, this certificate also represents the enmity you have earned from the elder brain. In future adventures, if you find yourself fighting mind flayers, please inform the DM that you deserve special attention from the monsters. They may receive a telepathic signal from the elder brain warning them about your past transgressions against the cyst. The DM may choose whether and how to act on this information.

EAST13 Hero of Fardrop

You assisted an expedition from the Crafty Kobold Salvage Company in completing their mission to secure the abandoned Underchasm outpost of Fardrop. Although some lives were lost, the damage was greatly reduced thanks to your actions. Your prestige with the Company and the city of Eartheart has increased as a result of the tales told by the grateful explorers.